The German situation in the salient, although awkward is not untenable. The enemy's difficulties are not greater than those in which the British army was placed for many months in the Ypres salient, before the capture of Messines ridge. The Ypres salient was five miles wide and five miles deep and was dominated by the enemy. The present German salient is now twenty miles wide and twenty miles deep and, similarly, is dominat ed by the allied artillery.

Captured documents show the enemy had made up his mind on the day after the allied offensive began to undertake a retirement to line along either the Ardre or Vesle and had ac tually given orders for this. The orders were later cancelled, presumably ow-ing to the difficulty of effecting an orderly retreat in the pinched sailent. It s possible they have decided to retain the positions as long as possible.

Military writers point out the allies are using up the German reserves in battle where the Germans are continuously in a disadvantageous posi-tion is entirely satisfactory. If the the enemy remains he cannot undertake any important offensive and the allies could hold the sallent lightly and

One reason for the Germans' abandonment of the plan for retirement is found in the reports of allied airmen, which show tremendous congestion along the lines of German communica-The Germans may be merely holding on as long as possible to effect an orderly withdrawal and to remove the vast accumulations of stores and munitions which had been gathered in this district ready for a great advance

Fixed government prices insuring a air return, encouraged planting agents of the agricultural departments and agricultural schools pointed out to the southern farmer the benefits of a varied crop, and the excellent weather brought crops that authorities say will result in still greater acreage of wheat and oats next year. The ideal weather resulted in an early harvest.

Texas, Georgia, Alabama, Louisiana, North Carolina, Florida and Virginia will harvest greatly diversified food crops this year. One striking result is shown in a shipping report from Alabama. Until four years ago from 17 counties in the state not a single carload of hogs was shipped. In the year ending April 1, 1918, hogs to fill 2352 cars, were sent from the same counties. The value of the hogs now growing in these counties was estimated at $4,000,000. Formerly the section raised little except cotton.

summary recently issued by the federal reserve bank for the eleventh federal reserve district dwelt on the prosperity following the planting of a varied crop in the largest state in

'Authorities whom we consider entirely conservative estimate the Texas wheat crop from 8,000,000 to 12,000,-000 bushels and the oats crop at approximately 50,000,000 bushels," the report said. "The yield is greatly curtailed on account of unfavorable conditions in the Panhandle section where in normal times, the grain is extensively produced. In more favored parts Texas, the north, northeast and central portions, the yield is far above normal. The acreage sown in peanuts and other feed crops in all sections of the eleventh federal reserve district has been unusually large and correspondents advise these crops are doing nicely.

"Some sections of west Texas which for two years and more have suffered terrific drouth almost completely demoralizing the cattle business are again coming into their own.

"The outlook in the cattle industry has shown much improvement in the last month," the report continues "A large area of the range country has received fine rains and there is a better feeling among cattle and sheep men. It is still very dry in portions of New Mexico and the cattle interests are suffering. In the Panhandle section of Texas conditions are much improved. Recent rains have made plenty of grass and the shipping of cattle to pasture in other sections is

ARE FIGHTING FOR UNCLE SAM

Frank and John McKenna, sons of John McKenna, Sr., of 2415 Quincy avenue, are now serving their country in in the world-wide struggle for the freedom of the world. They enlisted last summer and went with Battery B to Camp Kearny. Thus far they have not been separated, going overseas together and, unless army orders have been changed necessitating their separation, they are fighting side by side

The McKennas were a prosperous and happy family until the awful tragedy of 1906, which made so many San Francisco families homeless and des titute. In looking around for a location in which to start all over again, Mr. McKenna decided to bring his wife and two sons to Ogden where the horrors of the earthquake and fire were soon forgotten. Misfortune, however, had not forgotten the McKenna family, for soon the Grim Reaper chose to call the wife, thus leaving the home home bereft of a loving Christian mother.
